

•Q: If my symptoms are gone, is my concussion healed?

•A: Just because somatic concussion symptoms have resolved, neurocognitive processing can still be affected. Symptoms should also be resolved with exertion. Ideally, a concussion is resolved when symptoms are gone at rest and exertion, along with normal neurocognitive testing.

Cynthia Cross, RN

Atlantic Health System-Morristown Memorial